

MISSION

To protect Georgians by operating secure facilities and providing opportunities for offender rehabilitation.

Tyrone Oliver, Commissioner

Laterra Davis, Assistant Commissioner Inmate Services Division

TRANSITIONAL SERVICES

Transitional Services is a section within the Georgia Department of Corrections charged with promoting public safety through collaborative partnerships, supporting offender placement into evidence-based interventions, and reflecting a seamless reentry system that assists returning offenders in becoming law-abiding, productive community citizens. Transitional Services provides standardized Reentry Services Protocols that permeate all affected agencies and organizations to reduce recidivism. Offender reentry planning and preparation begins when the offender starts their sentence with the Georgia Department of Corrections and is an on-going and dynamic endeavor that continues through the offender's release from custody and transition to the community. Reentry provides effective opportunities for offenders to achieve positive change and be a more pro-social contributor to society.

INFORMATIONAL HIGHLIGHTS

GOALS

- To prepare and build individual capacity of the offender to be a productive member of his/her family and community
- To link offenders to internal and external program services necessary for successful transition and reentry into the community
- To increase the community and correctional capacity to address the offender's needs and identify community resources to match assessed needs
- To enhance public safety by reducing recidivism among the formerly incarcerated population
- To promote public safety through collaborative state agency and community partnerships that support offender transition to the community
- To optimize the services provided with external stakeholders and service providers to impact reduction on return admissions to jails, prisons and community supervision to promote Justice Reinvestment

IMPACT

- Statistically, 1 in 31 adults nationwide is under some type of supervision, such as jail/prison, probation or parole
- In Georgia, 1 in 13 citizens are under some type of supervision, making Georgia the fourth largest prison system in the country and first largest per capita
- Though 95% of offenders return to society, within three years 26.6% will return to prison with new charges, and in 10 years, 66.6% will return
